SEASON 68

2018-2019

JACK MOORE

Conductor Jack Moore is in his 23rd season as Music Director of the Ambler Symphony Orchestra. He is also Principal Conductor of the Orchestra Society of Philadelphia and the Old York Road Symphony. He maintains a very active schedule with these organizations, as well as guest appearances with other orchestras in the Philadelphia area and in Europe. Jack Moore is recently retired as the Program Director and classical music announcer at WRTI, the Temple University Public Radio Network. We are thrilled with our connection with Jack, and hope to keep him as our director and conductor for many years to come! Jack is married with two children and resides in BalaCynyd.

OUR MISSION

The Ambler Symphony

Is a non-profit, all volunteer orchestra that has been bringing beautiful music to our local community for 68 years. The mission of the Ambler Symphony is to delight with sound and enrich the lives of music lovers young and old.
